Cumulative Index of Volumes 1-10 of FLA

Stanley Sacks and
Warren C. Born

This issue completes the tenth volume of Foreign Language Annals. It, thus, seemed appropriate to compile an index to ACTFL's official journal, enabling members to locate more easily the articles published since October 1967.

The index consists of two parts: an author/title section and a subject index. Most unsigned pieces have been omitted as well as matter of an ephemeral nature, e.g., calendars of upcoming events, lists of state newsletter editors, summer workshops, etc. These can, however, be located by consulting the contents pages of each volume, which are included in this cumulative index.

Signed articles are listed once alphabetically by the first author; co-authors are included in the index, and the user is referred to the entry under the first author. Unsigned matter appears by title in the alphabetical listing. For the sake of consistency, the titles of some recurring material, e.g., Annual Meeting programs, have been standardized so that one entry provides the user with all material of a similar nature. In like manner, all "Lists of ERIC Documents on the Teaching of Foreign Languages" appear under one title entry; the user will find entries for all compilers of the "Lists" which refer to the title entry. The ACTFL Annual Bibliography has been similarly listed.

The subject index was compiled by using basically the section headings of the ACTFL Annual Bibliography, assigning articles to the heading under which they appeared in the Bibliography. Some articles are included under more than one subject heading.

Each entry in the author/title section gives the volume and page number on which the article begins; for example, "7:56" indicates that the article starts on page 56 of volume 7. Entries in the subject index refer the user to the author/title section; for example, "Hancock 10" indicates that the appropriate article is the one by Dr. Hancock which was published in volume 10. If the author appears only once in the cumulative index, no volume is indicated.

This cumulative index was begun by Stanley Sacks as an independent study project while he was a student at Hunter College; it was completed by the editor.

Spanish in:

SEGOVIA

"One of the most beautiful and fascinating small cities on the face of this earth."—Anthony Rather

An ideal place to learn Spanish and to live as the Spaniards do. . .

1) Live with families
2) All Spanish teaching staff
2) Course work and requirements designed for American university needs: Fall, Winter, Spring terms and Summer session
4) Full Ohio Wesleyan accreditation for all academic work successfully completed
5) Course work in language, literature, civilization, art, theatre
6) Special arrangements for apprenticeship experience may be worked out
